STUCK IN THE RICE FIELDS

A pair of pleasure-seekers, who are and shall be nameless, found themselves in a disagreeable predicament shortly after midnight on Saturday evening. The enthralling demands of gallantry and apparently the gentleman's side at least, the effects of various potations, had precluded the necessary care in the guidance of the unfortunate horse.

Yearning for solitude and an uninterrupted vista of the moon and stars, the buggy was headed along the beach road. The night was beautiful, the breeze from the shore cooling, and the hours slipped as unmindful of the faithful quadruped that had been towing the pair around all the evening.

The equine noticing that little attention was paid to the reins, and mindful of a vacancy where his supper ought to be, proceeded to make a bee line for home. In the moonlight roads and rice patches were alike to him, and the hungry animal finally found himself stalled in a rice field situated somewhere between King street and the Beach road.

Jarred from their blissful enjoyment by the sinking of the buggy, the swain awoke to the occasion and made desperate efforts to land them on terra firma, the horse resigning himself to his fate and making an impromptu meal off the tender rice shoots.

The shrieks of the unfortunate pair on for help aroused no sign from the neighboring Pake planters, and at last the gentleman doffed shoes and stockings and rolling his trousers to the knee waded away in search of assistance.

Some fifteen minutes later a disconsolate figure, shoeless and sockless, coated to the knees with a plaster of slimy mud and blades of rice, wandered along King street in search of a 'phone. F. E. King, proprietor of Cottage Grove, keeps electric lights burning on the verandas of the residences all night, and to one of these the bedraggled moth of a man was attracted.

A member of the household had just returned from a charter meeting of the Best People on Earth, and answered the door.

"Partner, I'm—hic—in trouble." "What do you want?" "We're stuck in the mud." "Are you an auto?" "No, we're a—hic—pleasure party and we're—hic—stuck in the mud." "What do you want?" "Have you got a 'phone?" "No; you had better go to the Sanitarium."

"I'm not looking for a—hic—hospital. I want a 'phone." On explanation that the Sanitarium possessed a 'phone and that no allusions were intended, the individual thanked his informant and wandered into the night, leaving muddy tracks and miniature pools behind him.

Whether they finally got home is still a matter of conjecture, but in all probability somebody, somewhere in Honolulu, is vowing never to go out again without a chaperone and a man who can be trusted to bring her home in safety and before daylight.

What Physicians SAY ABOUT Taroena Food.

"Being a sufferer from fermentative dyspepsia, I used Taroena with many doubts as to so starchy a food agreeing with me. To my surprise, Taroena and my stomach have always remained on the best of terms, to my great satisfaction and comfort."—JAMES STIMSON, M.D., Watsonville, Cal.

"I have had occasion to test the merits of a great number of prepared foods while treating cases of seasickness. I find none of them half as useful as Taroena Food. I am thoroughly convinced that Taroena is the most nutritious food I have ever used."—MILAN SOULE, M.D., Steamship Australia.

"My experience with Taroena warrants me in recommending it as one of the most valuable of the farinaceous foods. It is particularly suited to all inflammatory conditions of the gastric intestinal tract. When made into the form of a gruel and used it is retained when other foods are rejected."—F. R. DAY, M.D., Honolulu.

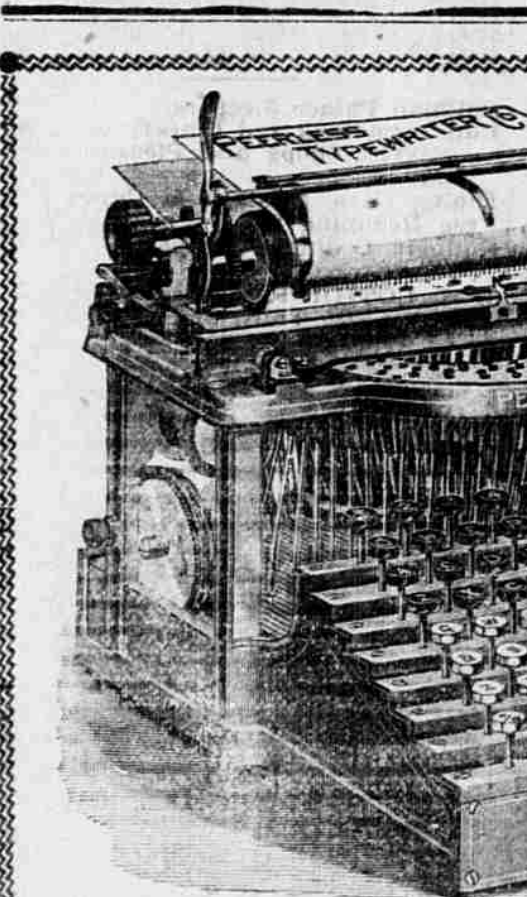

"Taroena Food, in my opinion, is an excellent infant and invalid food and in many cases where I have used it, it has always proved satisfactory. I have four patients using it at present."—G. J. BUCKNELL, M.D., San Francisco, Cal.

"Taroena Food is a most wholesome and nutritious article of diet, invaluable to dyspeptics. I know of nothing to equal it. The stomach will retain it when nothing else."—GEORGE HERBERT, M.D., Honolulu.

"Three babies who were unable to retain food or medicine improved promptly under Taroena Food, retaining it from the first. In one case a child's life was saved by its use."—H. A. SCHWENDENER, M.D., St. Joseph, Mich.

lation to every one who uses it, and simply demonstrates the old-fashioned lamp was a barbarous contrivance. THE ANGLE LAMP saves gas, and is the ideal light from every standpoint. We carry these lamps from $1.80 up.

Another Large Shipment of Angle Lamps.

THE ANGLE LAMP

THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS.

It seems almost incredible that any lamp could be good enough to take the place of electricity on even terms, yet such is the case with the ANGLE LAMP. All over the island people are throwing away their old lamps and replacing them with this lamp, not merely because it costs about one-tenth as much to maintain (cost is no object to some people), but, besides being infinitely cheaper, it is more brilliant and more reliable in the bargain. It is a very old-fashioned lamp was a barbarous contrivance. THE ANGLE LAMP saves gas, and is the ideal light from every standpoint. We carry these lamps from $1.80 up.

LATEST NOVELTIES IN Trimmings and Neckwear

The All Overs are as popular as ever. We are showing not only the Ecru and Black, but also some High-Novelties in Chiffons. Gallons, with Ribbons drawn through, are a prominent feature this year and show exceedingly well. For Jets also, the Gallon effects prevail. Chiffon Lace Collars in White and Black. The L'Aiglon idea has also taken possession of the Neckwear trade; they are certainly very stylish and should find a ready sale.

Wash Goods

We have not altogether stopped importing from Europe, as some people think. A fine lot of French Organdies has been received. The quality is sheer and shows beautiful patterns. Gingham and flimsies are also in stock. As there is such a demand for WHITE GOODS we have displayed some of our best patterns in our window—cheeks and stripes.

Wash Ribbons

In all the popular shades.

Grenadines

If you are planning a Black Silk Dress come and see our New Patterns in Plain Black Silk Grenadines; they are 45 inches wide.
